ooking back on the history of CPRF during the past 40 years, I must admit I am very proud of what I see. Not solely for our successful legislative initiatives or the development of one-of-a-kind industries and programs, but for the advancement of independence and equity for the individuals themselves.

The right to formal education, accessible housing, transportation, and competitive employment for those with significant disabilities was a pipe dream not many years ago. The advancements made both at the federal and state levels during the last 40 years are profound.

I wish to thank a generous and dedicated board who assist tremendously in our success, a caring and talented staff that believe in what we are accomplishing, and the many friends and funders who help along the way. Most importantly though, I would like to thank the people with disabilities we work

Granted, these achievements did not_____ come easily or without a fight, and by a great number of advocates; however, I am comforted by the fact that CPRF took the leadership role on advancing many of these efforts.

Collectively, we have come a very long way since I founded CPRF back in 1972.

In my opinion, those are the heroes of this organization. People who embrace the benefits cited today and future achievements will owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to those who I refer to as the "astronauts of disability" who blazed the trail before them.

God bless.

Our work last year in assisting with the passage of House Bill 2453 (new state legislation encouraing employment of people with disabilities) shows these efforts are ongoing and that there is still much to do.

The services, programs and industries in place today all have a similar goal, which is the mainstay of CPRF's mission of facilitating the chosen economic and personal independence for those with disabilities we have the privilege to serve.

This cannot be accomplished without the outstanding support of the many federal, state, and community partners that work with us to achieve this end. From the governor's administration and staff and the Kansas Department of Commerce, to the many legislators, county commissioners, and city council members – they all play a vital role in accomplishing our mission.

Community partners, such as; the WorkForce Alliance, Unified School District 259, Wichita State University, United Way of the Plains, Wichita Transit, and Sedgwick County (just to name a few) all contributed to this effort. We are greatly appreciative for the support they continue to show. As always, a special note of thanks goes to our generous volunteers, donors, and an experienced and dedicated board whose guidance is invaluable moving forward. I also commend our incredibly vocational assessment

Our Vocational Assessment team helps people with disabilities identify training options, job-applicable strengths and potential accomodations needed in order to develop an individualized plan for use toward training goals and employment.

To accomplish this plan, our staff uses interest inventories, aptitude measures, personality outlines, surveys, and interviews to create a profile of each client to recognize personal advantages and opportunities to overcome weaknesses. We also provide input on potential School of Adaptive Computer Training candidates.

job placement

Providing guidance, job readiness, placement, and retention services to people with disabilities seeking employment, our Job Placement team helps people find the right career path.

In addition to job-seekers, the Placement Department also serves Wichita-area employers, who use our team to find qualified job candidates. CPRF's own affiliate organizations, Center Industries Corporation and Business Technology Career Opportunities, Inc., also recruit from the Job Placement pool of candidates, many of whom tend to be overlooked by potential employers.

Many of these candidates are graduates of the CPRF School of Adaptive Computer Training.

americorps financial empowerment services

Our AmeriCorps Financial Empowerment Services team provides financial guidance, income tax preparation, and disability benefits awareness and education to lowincome individuals and families.

The program, headquartered at CPRF, began in 2009 with five other locations throughout the United States: Boston; Denver; Lansing, Mich.; Pensacola, Fla.; and Seattle. This year, two new sites were added in Milwaukee, Wisc., and Bridgeport, W.Va.

AmeriCorps members at each site work with their Community Rehabilitation Program to target services for people in their community.

AFES assisted more than 4,664 people this year.

Creating systems custom-fit to each body ensures that the risk of pressure sores and other adverse conditions are minimized. The Carney Center is the largest of the three posture seating clinics in Kansas.

maintenance therapy

Our certified rehabilitative aide helps Timbers residents improve muscle tone and flexibility using adaptive fitness equipment. This year, Robert Hammer, a 53-year-old BTCO employee with a disability, raised more than $10,000 by hand-cycling from Hutchinson, Kan., to Wichita to benefit this program. A fitness enthusiast, Hammer wanted to help Timbers residents achieve their fitness goals and have access to a larger variety of exercise outlets.

Thanks to Hammer and all those who donated, the Maintenance Therapy program purchased a stationary hand cycle, a recumbent exercise bike, new power webs and hand balls, a weight cart, ankle weights, and made repairs to a four-wheeled cycle.

When it opened in 1979, the Timbers was the first apartment complex in the nation built specifically for people with disabilities.

The Timbers features roll-in showers, roll-under sinks and counters, automatic doors, accessible switches, adapted laundry facilities, and an accessible, outdoor swimming pool with an on-site lifeguard.

For their senior projects this year, Wichita State University College of Engineering students collaborated with Timbers residents in creating products designed to make life easier for people with disabilities.

The projects included LED headlights and taillights for wheelchairs, which can be operated with the control panel built into the chair; a device which reminds an individual both when to take their medicine and when they will need a refill; a desk that splits down the middle at the push of a button and can fold to either side of a wheelchair; and curb sensors that are attached to the chair itself – all of which enhance the safety and quality of life for people who use wheelchairs.

Timbers residents and staff alike are proud to be a part of these innovative, exciting projects.

transportation

Timber Lines Transportation provides accessible, door-to-door rides to people with disabilities for things like doctor appointments, the grocery store, or simply to meet up with a friend. Accessible transportation is consistently lauded as one of the most important services for people with disabilities in achieving independence, and we are dedicated to providing affordable, reliable transportation services to Timbers residents.

Timber Lines now provides rides to and from Maize and Derby, which are home to two major dialysis centers surrounding the Wichita area.

photo by Liz Karp The Timbers now features three accessible tornado shelters built throughout the apartment complex. Residents and staff alike gathered to thank donors and the Federal Emergency Management Agency for these new safety measures.

At the School of Adaptive Computer Training, our staff helps people gain useful, practical computer skills toward obtaining employment. In addition to helping adults with disabilities acquire Microsoftapproved certifications, we also work with Unified School District 259 and the Workforce Alliance of South Central Kansas to provide services to high school juniors and seniors in the district's special education program.

Youth Program students also benefit from applicable, qualified financial education thanks to our AmeriCorps Financial Empowerment Services members, as well as transitional skills for college and their first jobs. With on-site Microsoft Office Specialist certification testing in Word, Excel, and Outlook, the SACT enables students of all ages to use their MOS certifications to better market themselves when searching for employment.

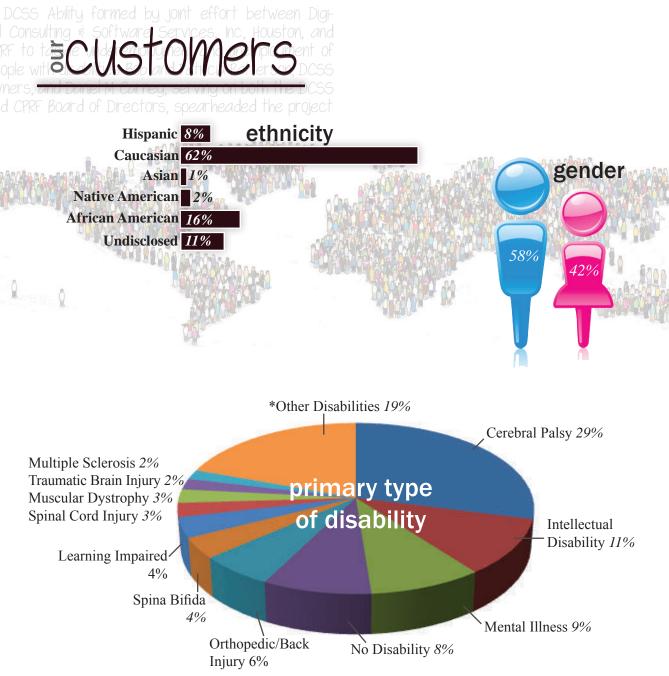

Our SACT Business Advisory Work Council ensures the school's cur₂₅ riculum – Word, Excel, Customer Service Professional, and more – row remain relevant and competitive in today's job market.

The SACT, through a Disability Employment Initiative grant from the U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration awarded in 2010, continues to provide coursework under this grant both to students in Wichita and remotely – via video conferencing equipment – to students at the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation reservation in Mayetta, Kan.

orn with Duchenne muscular dystrophy, Lee required a wheelchair at the age of eight, losing strength and requiring support for many physical activities. Lee was captivated by space and airplanes since he was a child and enrolled in Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach, to become an aerospace engineer.

After graduating summa cum laude, Lee began his career at Cessna, where he has worked for five years. Last year, Lee experienced severe respiratory failure and was given an emergency tracheotomy. He continues to work with the assistance of a ventilator.

"The seemingly insurmountable challenges that Christopher has overcome would stop most people in their tracks," said Jennifer Knight, Peter John Loux Memorial Award committee member. "Yet he forges ahead with passion and persistence, all while impacting the lives of others in a positive way."

Parker, born in 1924, never allowed his cerebral palsy to interfere with his life. Recognizing the importance of not letting his disability define him, Parker's father taught him to drive and told him that he needed to learn a trade if he couldn't go to school.

Parker took the advice and learned to woodwork – a trade he still practices in the woodworking shop attached to his home, doing things from creating rocking chairs to being involved in building his own home.

He has spoken before the Kansas legislature regarding high gas prices on behalf of senior citizens and volunteers for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program in his spare time.

"...Henry could have a lot to complain about in life," said Laura Owens, Parker's nominator. "He has faced life with a determination and a positive attitude that would put most of us to shame."
