DANIEL M. CARNEY

Chairman of the Board

The past year was bittersweet for CPRF, as my lifelong, close friend and founder of the organization, Jack Jonas, passed away last year. This proved to be a difficult time for those of us who worked with Jack over the years, as well as the people for whom he dedicated his life's work. Jack's vision of promoting employment opportunities for people with disabilities and the chance to live a life of independence have always been the cornerstone of CPRF's mission, and we are dedicated to continuing Jack's pursuit of dignity for all.

Unfortunately, too many people with disabilities are still seeking their first job or a place to live on their own. CPRF, CIC, and BTCO all advanced in 2014 toward finding solutions to these barriers by providing new facilities, more employment opportunities, and expanding capabilities. CPRF's mission continues full speed ahead, and I am tremendously grateful for our dedicated Board of Directors, staff members, and volunteers who work to see our vision carried forward.

Finally, to those individuals, foundations, and corporate funders who have assisted us in so many ways, I want to thank you for your generosity and support. 2014 was a year of both great sadness and growth for CPRF, and we are more dedicated than ever in ensuring that Jack's vision and the CPRF mission of promoting employment and independence for people with all types of disabilities is fulfilled.

God Bless,
Dan

Dan and Jack

PATRICK T. JONAS

CPRF President & CEO

Those of us at the Cerebral Palsy Research Foundation of Kansas and our affiliates, Center Industries Corporation and Business Technology Career Opportunities, are very proud of our long history of innovation and exploration to promote employment opportunities and personal independence for those with disabilities who we have the privilege to work with.

Our invaluable Board of Directors Chairman, Dan Carney, along with the immeasurable contributions from our other distinguished board members and the tremendous support of friends and funders of the organization are responsible for CPRF's many great achievements and success stories since our organization began in 1972. The guiding light behind these accomplishments (and occasional failures, I must admit) stemmed from the vision of our founder and my father, Jack Jonas, who passed away last year.

Pop stressed preparation, persistence, and ingenuity. To him, no obstacle was too big to overcome or too trivial to ignore. His guiding principle, a quote from Thomas Carlyle, was framed in his office for as long as I can remember:

*The great law of culture is: let each become all that he was created capable of being;
expand if possible, to his full growth;
and show himself at length in his own shape and stature, be these what they may.*

My father, our board, and our staff have always believed that everyone should have the opportunity to live life to the fullest, regardless of their physical limitations. We intend to maintain the vision and mission of the organization moving forward in 2015 and beyond.

Finally, I would like to add a personal note of thanks to all of those who showed such tremendous support to the Jonas family and to the organization during our very challenging time.

Pat

Daniel M. Carney, CPRF Board of Directors Chairman; Senator Bob Dole; John F. "Jack" Jonas Jr., CPRF Founder; and Patrick T. Jonas, CPRF President & CEO.

Adult Day Services

photos by Kacee Shuler and Amy Franklin

ADS customers enjoy a variety of daily enrichment activities all year long, whether it be touring the “Haunted Hallway” at Halloween, shooting hoops on a spring day, playing table tennis in the new recreation room, or painting holiday ornaments.

With renovations and expansions to the Adult Day Services Learning Center, 2014 was an exciting year for the program. The new indoor recreational area, dedicated in April, enables us to provide services to more clients and to include more enrichment activities such as table tennis, Xbox Kinect, and more interactive games.

Our clients also enjoy our outdoor wheelchair swing, basketball goal, and patio for barbeques, sunshine, and gardening.

Thanks to the help of generous volunteers throughout the community, we are able to offer clients music therapy from Wichita State University School of Music graduate students, gardening lessons from Sedgwick County Master Gardeners, therapy dog presentations from local groups, and other activities to help keep every day fresh and exciting for our clients.

Timbers Housing & Transportation

The Timbers is a community for people with physical disabilities to live independently in wheelchair-accessible apartments. Timbers residents enjoy parties, group activities, demonstrations, and on-site transportation.

The Timbers is a 100-unit apartment community for people with physical disabilities. Each unit features roll-in showers, roll-under sinks and counters, accessible switches, and more.

We also have an accessible swimming pool for residents, as well as a congregate area for group activities, potlucks, and parties.

In addition to these amenities, the Timbers also has three Federal Emergency Management Agency tornado shelters on campus, as well as a HUD Service Coordinator on staff to help residents with annual forms, utility assistance enrollment, voter registration, nutritional commodities, and more.

Timber Lines is an accessible transportation service that helps people get to work, go shopping, and keep appointments.

Wheelchair & Posture Seating Clinic

photos by Amy Franklin

CPRF's Wheelchair & Posture Seating Clinic clients receive quality, customized seating systems designed specifically to suit the user's unique needs. We also host an annual holiday party, Milk & Cookies with Santa, for our young clients to have the opportunity to meet with Santa, enjoy some treats, and even go for a wheelchair-accessible horsedrawn carriage ride, provided by Sundance Farm.

Our Wheelchair & Posture Seating Clinic addresses the needs of people with physical disabilities of all ages, offering custom-built wheelchairs from the frame up.

Designed to enhance comfort, provide better body alignment, and minimize the risk of pressure sores, our seating systems range from simple to intricate, built by technicians who have decades of experience in the field.

Physical & Occupational Therapists and seating technicians are on staff to work with each client and make sure we build the best seating system possible. All of our wheelchair systems are built in-house.

School of Adaptive Computer Training

photos by Kacee Shuler

SACT Youth Program students graduate from our program with job-marketable and college-applicable skills, such as Microsoft certifications in Word and Excel and customer service training. Our satellite capabilities allow us to reach out to both adults and high school students throughout the state.

The SACT is devoted to improving job-marketable skills for people with disabilities. In addition to our Microsoft-approved curriculum and certifications in the Microsoft suite, we also offer customer service and computing fundamentals courses.

We also partner with Workforce Alliance of South Central Kansas, Unified School District 259, and Butler County Special Education Interlocal to offer morning and afternoon classes to help high school students earn school credit and learn skills that enable them to pursue their college/vocational goals.

Exercise & Wellness

photos by Kacee Shuler

The CPRF Exercise & Wellness program is a fitness and physical maintenance facility with a Certified Restorative Aide on staff to help each client individually.

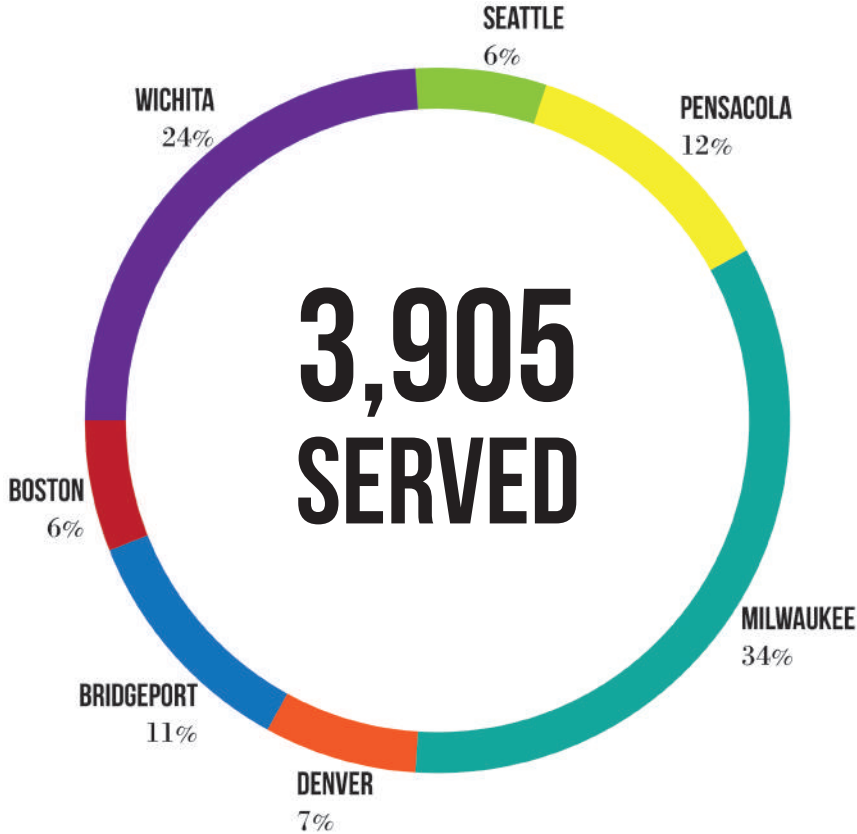

The CPRF Exercise & Wellness Program promotes physical fitness for people of all abilities through a regime of strength training, building flexibility, and pain-controlling exercises.

Our Certified Restorative Aide works individually with clients in a private gym setting on the Timbers apartment campus. All exercise programs are written and prescribed for each client by an Occupational or Physical Therapist.

Our equipment and activities include:

- Parallel bars & walkers
- Stationary bikes
- Standing frame
- Fine motor training
- Paragym
- Treadmill
- Stretching mats
- and many more

AmeriCorps

MILWAUKEE: 1,343 • SEATTLE: 243 • WICHITA: 929 • PENSACOLA: 473

Our AmeriCorps Financial Empowerment Services team provided much-needed income tax assistance, financial education, and disability benefit assistance to 3,905 low-income individuals last year.

AmeriCorps partners with financial institutions, schools, and other nonprofit organizations to bring financial responsibility and awareness to the community.

Case Management

photos by Kacee Shuler

Our Case Management team works with people throughout the community to coordinate the appropriate services and resources that each client needs, whether that is housing, adult day services, mental health care, or other daily living needs.

Our case managers coordinate services for individuals with disabilities, focusing on advocacy, services, resources, funding, and helping clients understand their rights and responsibilities.

We also offer the WORK Program through the State of Kansas – a service for individuals with disabilities who want to work, but still need to receive their vital health and long-term care coverage.

Kansas Work Incentives Network

The Kansas Work Incentives Network provides Work Incentive Planning and Assistance services to Kansans with disabilities who want information about Social Security work incentives and community supports.

In order to help people make informed employment decisions as they transition to and/or advance in employment, KWIN clients are offered guidance, benefit analysis, and a work incentive plan by Social Security Administration-certified Community Work Incentive Coordinators.

Job Placement

photos by Kacee Shuler

Having built relationships with businesses throughout the community, as well as CPRF affiliates Center Industries Corporation and BTCO, Inc., our Job Placement team gives people the assistance and resources they need to find a job they enjoy.

The CPRF Job Placement Department guides people with vocational barriers to the right position. With career counseling, resume development, mock interviews, and general guidance and direction, we work with people to ensure they find a job that suits their goals and abilities.

Our staff assists in the job hunt by educating clients on potential employers' expectations, any changes in the job market since they were last looking for work, and an idea of what to expect from the jobs they seek.

Vocational Assessment

The CPRF Vocational Assessment team administers tests to measure various aptitudes, skill levels, learning ability, job-related interests, work values, and more. The results generate a variety of potential careers and/or training programs that would suit the client.

Our one-on-one approach helps make sure customers receive more precise employment recommendations, which can reduce job-related dissatisfaction and turnover rates.

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

Peter John Loux Award

The Peter John Loux Award provides an annual recognition gift to Kansans who demonstrate exceptional desire and dedication in overcoming their disabilities. Any Kansas resident 18 years of age or older with a congenital or acquired physical or neurological disability may be nominated by another person or apply on their own behalf. The award is an endowed gift established by the late Richard C. "Pete" Loux in memory of his son, Peter John. Mr. Loux, a lifelong advocate for people with disabilities, used his influence as the Kansas House of Representatives Minority Leader to help launch Center Industries Corporation in 1975. He was also a founding member of the CPRF Board of Directors, serving from 1972-2004. For more information about the award, contact Jennifer Knight, CPRF Development Director, at jenniferk@cprf.org.

Aaron O'Donnell, of Clay Center, was so badly abused as an infant that, with shaken baby syndrome, cerebral palsy, severe mobility problems, and dependent leg syndrome, no one thought he would live to see his teens.

Fortunately, Aaron was adopted at the age of eight by the foster family who cared for him since he was five months old.

They modified their home to suit his needs, take him on outings, and ensure that he receives quality care.

Now 22 years old, Aaron is dependent on others for his daily needs. He enjoys outdoor activities and has participated in the Special Olympics. Aaron also currently attends Manhattan Big Lakes Development Center two days a week.

Aaron and his family will use the Loux Award funds to purchase a new shower chair and feeder seat.

Rebecca Fulcher is a freshman at Wichita State University, where she studies journalism.

At the age of nine, Rebecca was diagnosed with Friedreich's Ataxia, a life-shortening, degenerative neuro-muscular disorder that usually begins in childhood and leads to impaired muscle coordination that worsens over time.

As a teenager, Rebecca had spinal surgery to fix a severe case of scoliosis. Unfortunately, she was never able to regain the ability to walk after the operation and became fully dependent on a manual wheelchair.

Award winners Jeanne Gordon and Rebecca Fulcher at the Peter John Loux Award ceremony. Aaron O'Donnell, also a P.J.L. Award winner, was unable to attend the ceremony. All three winners received a plaque and a check for $1000.

Despite all this, Rebecca does not allow FA to control her life or keep her from achieving her goals.

In high school, she joined the yearbook staff and served as co-editor during her senior year. She maintained a great GPA throughout school and was nominated for the National Honors Society.

Now a full-time student at WSU, Rebecca is involved with the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She now uses a power wheelchair to get around campus independently.

Rebecca plans to use her award money toward the purchase of an accessible van.

On June 3, 2006, Jeanne Gordon was riding bikes with her oldest daughter, Gabriele — a regular activity for the two.

That particular morning, a truck struck them both, killing Gabriele and leaving Jeanne with a C4-5-6 spinal cord injury, which paralyzed her from the shoulders down.

Afterward, she was transported to Craig Hospital in Denver for rehabilitation, during which time she became very sick, needing ventilators, tracheotomies, voice boxes, and even learning to swallow again.

Award winner Rebecca Fulcher with her mom, Amy.

Jeanne always had a creative, artistic side, and has learned to paint and draw with the use of a mouth stick. She offers her paintings to benefit many charities and contributes her drawings for coloring books.

Choosing to not let the situation get the best of her, she refuses to stay home because she feels it is important for people to see her and for her to see them in an active and positive way. She speaks to classes about the accident, allowing those who haven't been around a person with a disability to understand a little more fully. Her goal is to leave the kids with the idea that no matter what situations may arise, it is their choice how they will react.

Though Aaron couldn't make it, Jeanne and Rebecca were present at the Peter John Loux Award ceremony, held at CPRF.

After hearing about Rebecca's inspiring academic success and learning that she wants to use her award money toward the purchase of an accessible van, Jeanne decided to give her award winnings to Rebecca. Jeanne, recalling all the issues she had with her first van — the bumpy rides, the faulty lift — wanted Rebecca's first vehicle to be reliable and comfortable.

Check on Rebecca's progress at gofundme.com/je7hpc.

Jack Jonas Founder Awards

Last year, John F. "Jack" Jonas Jr., CPRF Founder, passed away after a battle with cancer.

Jack dedicated his life's work to serving and advocating for an underrepresented population, creating an organization based around the principle that everyone, regardless of their physical abilities, has the right to an education, a career, and independence.

In honor of Jack's legacy and spirit, CPRF established the Jack Jonas Founder Awards to recognize two employees per year who have shown dedication to the CPRF mission and who truly have a heart for those we serve.

The award winners are announced at our annual holiday luncheon and receive a plaque and a check for $1,000 each.

All CPRF, Center Industries Corporation, and BTCO employees are eligible for the award, with the exception of executives.

This year, the Jack Jonas Founder Awards went to two women who continuously go above and beyond their call of duty: Amber Smith of Center Industries and Theresa Blagg of CPRF.

In her 14 years at Center Industries, Amber consistently demonstrates an eagerness to perfect processes, learn new things, and build respectful relationships with her coworkers.

Amber's first job at Center was in the Print Shop, where she displayed a great work ethic and a desire to improve the processes. From there, she went to the Fabrication Shop, where she took an interest in programming machines and routers. After watching her do well as a lead in this capacity, her supervisors asked her to take classes at Butler Community College to Fab and CNC Shops. When the time came for a new CNC Shop Manager, she was the obvious choice and has since made many improvements in organization and processes.

Amber also functions as a sign language interpreter for employees who can't hear and continually goes the extra mile to make sure that her employees with limited abilities are having their needs met for optimal production.

Due to her leadership skills and caring nature, her employees respect her and produce at a high level.

Theresa, a driver for Timber Lines Transportation, is a kind, compassionate, thought-learn more about programming software so she could become more involved in the department.

Amber was then promoted to Programmer for the ful person who treats Timbers residents and her coworkers with respect and care.

Theresa regularly goes above and beyond for Timbers residents, often volunteering to take people on activities on her own time and helping out whenever needed.

capacity, Theresa makes sure that case management staff is aware of the situation so the resident's needs are met.

This is one of her great skills: knowing when she can assist someone and when she needs to involve others.

Her communication with case management staff

Theresa has encountered many difficult situations, but she always treats residents with compassion and respect to ensure that their dignity is maintained, regardless of the situation.

It takes a cohesive team to manage issues, and Theresa works side-by-side with her Amber Smith, Center Industries Corporation, was recognized for her dedication and work ethic.

If there is an activity, an event, or even just a potluck, Theresa is first in line to volunteer to help. She is also often the first person to notice when a resident needs assistance or is struggling and never fails to take the initiative to help them if she can.

If their need is beyond her has ensured that residents get the assistance that they need, even when they might be too embarrassed or uncomfortable to ask for it.

She consistently puts clients first, and residents know they can talk to Theresa about any issues they are having for an understanding ear.

team (and occasionally on her own time) to ensure that the quality of life for residents remains high.

The trust she has built with both her coworkers and residents makes her an invaluable part of the team at the Timbers.

AFFILIATE SUPPORT

Center Industries Corporation

photos by Kacey Shuler and Liz Karp Center Industries Corporation and BTCO, Inc., provide skilled employment opportunities for people with disabilities.

Founded by CPRF in 1975, Center Industries Corporation continues to thrive. CIC employs more than 250 people – more than 75% of whom have a physical disability – who specialize in a wide range of manufacturing disciplines, including window frame and window belt manufacturing, making license plates for the State of Kansas, and many more. Complementing CPRF’s mission to promote dignified employment opportunities, CIC employees are paid a competitive market wage with benefits.

BTCO, Inc.

Incorporated in 2001, BTCO, Inc., shares CPRF’s mission of providing skilled employment opportunities for people with disabilities. The company’s primary line of service is document conversion, small and large-format imaging, and electronic records management. Among its satisfied customers are the U.S. Air Force Personnel Center, Westar Energy, Kansas Corporation Commission, and many others. In addition to its core service, BTCO also offers open-source web research and precise-tolerance plot printing. In accordance with SourceAmerica/AbilityOne goals, more than 75 percent of BTCO’s skilled workforce are people with disabilities. BTCO employees are paid a market competitive wage with benefits.
