

Dear Parents, Guardians and Caregivers,

As our state moves to reopen, CPRF Adult Day Services is also moving towards reopening. Our goal is to reopen as safely as possible, with a number of precautions put in place for the safety of our clients, staff and greater community.

In accordance with the guidance provided by the state, we have submitted a reopening plan to the CDDO and are currently waiting on approval. Once approval has been received, we will begin a slow, phased reopening. At this time we cannot provide a date, but we are hoping to begin within the next 2 weeks.

Prior to reopening for each phase and inviting small groups of individuals back, our nurse, Julie Dickenson, will be contacting you and/or your ward, as appropriate. To review an assessment of health and each person's ability to assist in keeping themselves safe. This will provide us with vital information as we look to provide individual supports for each person as they return. She will also be providing you with information regarding the measures that we are taking and the measures that we will need you, as caregivers, to take. This will also be an opportunity for you to ask any questions you have regarding these steps.

Thank you for your assistance and patience with the process. If you have any questions as we move forward, you are, as always, welcome to call and ask. We look forward to seeing everyone again in the near future.

Clarissa Jeter

Vice President of Community Support Services
